Description:

Psychopharmacology is the study of the use of medications in treating mental disorders. The complexity of this field requires continuous study in order to keep current with new advances. This introductory level training will review the extreme importance of appropriate initial diagnosis, consideration of all appropriate treatment interventions, the need for communication amongst members of the treatment team, and childhood psychopharmacology.

Learning Objectives:

After completion of this presentation, participants will be able to name the following:

- 1) Explain why psychopharmacology for children and adolescents can be either a helpful or necessary part of treatment.
- 2) Determine when to seek out potential psychopharmacologic intervention.
- 3) Identify available psychopharmacologic treatment options for children and adolescents.

Presenter:

Dr. Marshall Teitelbaum is a A.B.P.N. Board Certified/Recertified in child and adolescent psychiatry, having attended medical school at University of Miami, FL, a general psychiatry residency at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation (OH), and a child and adolescent psychiatry fellowship at the University of South Florida. He is presently a full-time outpatient clinician in Jupiter.
